

Sarah Dimmich

Partner

Stuart & Branigin LLP

A seasoned legal advocate and advisor, Sarah N. Dimmich has nearly twenty years of experience representing Class I and short-line railroad operators and working with their in-house attorneys, risk directors, and claims managers. Described by one national railroad client a “skilled and talented attorney that gets outstanding results,” Sarah has a record of success on behalf of her rail-industry clients.

She began her legal career as a law clerk to Justice Brent E. Dickson of the Indiana Supreme Court, before joining Stuart & Branigin in 2004 and becoming a partner in 2012. She has been included four times (2014–2017) on the Indiana Rising Stars Super Lawyers list and was named as a 2024 “Super Lawyer” for transportation law. Her practice also includes employment law and general litigation defense, including for hospital and higher-education clients. She has also been active in numerous professional organizations, including the National Association of Railroad Trial Counsel and Defense Trial Counsel of Indiana, and has served on the board of several non-profit organizations. She is a member of the American Bar Association, Indiana State Bar Association, and the Tippecanoe County Bar Association (of which she is the immediate past president).

Sarah earned her undergraduate degree with highest distinction from Purdue University before graduating cum laude from the Indiana University McKinney School of Law in Indianapolis, where she was the executive articles editor for the Indiana Law Review and a member of Phi Beta Kappa and the Deans’ Tutorial Society. She is admitted to practice in Indiana state and federal courts and the United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit.

Outside her legal practice, Sarah enjoys arranging flowers and antique shopping
