

LRIW BOARD OF DIRECTORS NOMINATION FORM

The League of Railway Industry Women (LRIW) is seeking nominations for Board Members. Members should consider this an opportunity to represent their segment of the industry and the railroad industry as a whole. We will contact nominees and ask for additional information including a biography and a statement of interest. Members may nominate themselves.

The typical office term for board members is three years. The Nominating Committee is charged, to the best of its ability, with taking into consideration the size of the company and disciplines in the industry to help ensure the board fully represents the LRIW membership.

The nominees are vetted by the Nominating Committee and presented to the Board of Directors. The Nominating Committee (under the supervision of the LRIW President) will then present a slate of candidates to the full LRIW membership for election.

Requirements

- Nominee must be an LRIW member in good standing.
- Nominee must be a woman active in the railroad industry or retired from the industry.

Board Member Qualities

- Commitment: Serving as an LRIW Board Member is both an honor and a reward, but it requires a demonstrated commitment to the organization and its mission and goals. Board members are required to attend each board meeting, serve or assist on committees, and be available to other members and industry participants.
- Time to Serve: Participating fully in LRIW activities requires extra time to prepare for travel and attend meetings. LRIW Board Members usually commit to 2 - 3 hours per month.
- Sound Judgment and Integrity: Being an LRIW Board Member means that decisions you make must be tempered with good judgment and integrity, you must also consider what is in the best interest of the group as whole. Discussions held at board meetings are confidential.
- Strategic Thinkers: LRIW is looking for candidates who are strategic thinkers and visionaries who will help determine the group's short- and long- term goals and direction.
